RE: Nurse Aide Credentialing Program Update

Dear Georgia Nurse Aide Training Programs:

With the acquisition of our nurse aide credentialing program from Pearson VUE in April 2021, Credentia is making significant investments in people, processes, and systems to meet the evolving nurse aide testing market needs for decades to come. In strategic partnership with the National Council of State Boards of Nursing® (NCSBN®), we are developing new nurse aide testing services and programs that we feel will provide even more value to state agencies, training programs, and candidates in the coming years all with the primary objective of maximizing public health and safety.

In conjunction with the Alliant Health Solutions, we are excited to announce significant credentialing program improvements including online NNAAP® written/oral exams, a new candidate support center dedicated to nurse aides, the new CNA365® nurse aide credentialing system, expanded reporting capabilities, and much more. Attached please find an overview of all program improvements.

To fully migrate all nurse aide testing information from Pearson VUE legacy systems to the new Credentia CNA365® system, there will be a “blackout” period of no exam dates from 1/13/22 through 1/30/22. Credentia will work to increase the normal test date availability both prior to and immediately after this blackout period to minimize impact to normal testing capacity in January/February.

Please also note that we will schedule brief CNA365® training sessions in early January to introduce a much-improved candidate course completion verification process. This new process will eliminate the inefficiencies, errors, and confusion associated with the current roster upload process.

I look forward to working with you in the coming months as we implement these exciting changes. Please look for further information soon and please don't hesitate to contact me with any questions at this time.

Sincerely,

Burrell
